

TEACH QUACKERY TO PRACTITIONER

By Manual With Specific Instructions.

"BLEED" YOUR PATIENT OFTEN

St. Louis Medical Concern Recently Raided By Government.

DIAGNOSIS BY "SUGGESTION"

St. Louis, April 10.—A manual for quack doctors, telling them how to get the greatest possible amount of money from the largest possible number of patients, was found by United States Post-Office inspectors in a raid on the office of the Meyer Medical Company, whose proprietors were arrested on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Inspector Wynne, who has the cases in charge, said the manual tells how to hypnotize a patient and how to diagnose his physical and more particularly his financial condition. The book will be used in the trial of the accused practitioners as evidence of their methods.

The instructions are devoted almost entirely to methods of getting money quickly and certainly. One of their most novel features is a cipher code for the practitioner to use in advising a co-operating druggist how much it is safe to charge for medicine.

The code is like a retail merchant's "cost mark" and has ten different letters which stand, in their order, for the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 0. The mystic letters are "I love punch."

Much of the contents of the manual relating to diagnosis of the cases usually treated by concerns of this class is unprintable under the postal laws. Part of the instructions read:

"After the patient is seated, sit up in your chair and lean forward slightly toward the patient, so there will not be a wide gulf between you. Look the patient in the face and say in a low, sympathetic tone 'What did you come to see me about?'"

"Ask him to tell you how he feels. If symptoms do not come to him readily, suggest suitable ones to him and ask him 'Do you feel—&c.' Be sure to suggest symptoms that he is likely to have, so he will be impressed with the idea that you are on the right track. Ask whether he is married or single. If single, whether he intends to marry soon."

The instructions then proceed to recommend that in certain cases the practitioner hold the patient's attention by making a sketch with a pencil.

"This," it is stated, "has a two-fold purpose. It first shows the patient that you understand his condition and as well gives him some idea of where the trouble lies, but also fixes the attention of the patient, and you thereby get him under your control. Do not lift your pencil or make any upward gesture, or you lose control. This is a well known point in hypnotism."

"Say to the patient 'I have never failed in a single case like yours.' Say 'I know I can cure you, not 'I think I can.'"

"The patient will likely ask what you will charge to cure him. Before replying do a little figuring, but don't take long for this—just a few seconds, not long enough to let him cool off."

"Tell him your system of treatment is the only one that will cure him; now get down to business while he is still impressed with your price. He may ask how this is to be paid, and if so, answer 'In cash.'"

"If the patient says he hasn't enough money to pay your fee, ask him 'How much have you with you?' Get what he has and give a receipt card. Then say 'What bank do you do business with?' Take for granted he has a bank account. He will be more likely to admit it if he has, if you handle him that way."

"If he says he has no bank account, look surprised and ask him how much money he has at home. If he has none, ask him how much he can borrow from his friends or in some way."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SPANISH COLONY EXILED BY VILLA

Reaches American Border At El Paso.

ALL KINDS HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Brought Along — Evidently Uncle Sam Must Care For Refugees.

A HARD PROBLEM PRESENTED

El Paso, Tex., April 10.—Eight hundred members of the Spanish colony of Torreon, expelled from Mexico by Gen. Villa after having passed through the recent battle that resulted in the capture of Torreon by the rebels, entered the United States here. They had been stripped of their property temporarily at least, but supplied with temporary funds. They expressed relief as they crossed the wooden bridge over the Rio Grande to American soil.

They had refused to leave the train in which they and their baggage had been transported from Torreon to Juarez until George C. Carothers, special agent of the Department of State, arrived to advise them. They sent word by a newspaper reporter to Carothers who left his breakfast and went to the train.

Carothers was unable to assure any that they would be restored to their homes, his interviews with Gen. Carranza yesterday having met with the flat statement that expulsion of Spaniards from Mexico was a settled policy of the rebels and would be modified only in the cases of individuals who might be found innocent of mixing in politics.

"We have money enough for the present," said Joaquin Fernandez, an exile. "Some of us will return to Spain; many will go to Mexico City and others will visit friends and relatives in the United States and Europe."

"Did Villa tell you specifically that Spanish property would be confiscated?" he was asked.

"Not specifically," he replied, "but that is pretty well taken for granted in Mexico. I have personal knowledge that no one in this party did anything inimical to the rebel cause. We are not rebels or Huertistas. Mexico is our home and we cannot but hope that some day we will be left to dwell in peace and security there."

All sorts of vehicles, donkey carts, automobiles, street cars, wheelbarrows and toy wagons were called into service to transport the refugees and their belongings from Juarez to El Paso. There were trunks, washboilers stuffed with bedding and clothes, clocks, parrots and kitchen utensils, all showing the haste with which they were collected after the order of expulsion was issued.

All refugees were provided with food and shelter soon after their arrival.

Reports Are Unavailing.

Washington, April 10.—The status of American efforts to prevent expulsion of Spaniards from Mexico, was set forth in this statement given out by the State Department:

"Unofficial representations made to Gen. Carranza by the representatives of the Department of State have developed that Gen. Carranza is not disposed to interfere with orders given by Gen. Villa as to the deportation of Spanish subjects in territory occupied by the Constitutionalists."

It was said that the terms of the decree of expulsion have not yet been received.

Most officials take the view that there is no alternative for the United States except to receive and care for the exiles as international law provides. Spaniards driven out of Chihuahua have declined offers of assistance in El Paso and set about maintaining themselves by every means at hand. The ultimate disposition of the refugees as well as the hundreds of others, who, in all probability will cross into the United States, will furnish a grave problem for the State Department and immigration authorities.

—A MISSIONARY STORY

A young and promising student at the girls' school in Quilongo, Africa, while visiting her home was forced by her people to pledge marriage with a man who was not a Christian.

Later, upon her return to her studies, surrounded by schoolmates and teachers she gained courage and sent word to her father that she did not favor the man and wished to be released from her promise.

Her father stormed and threatened and ordered her to return home.

For a while the girl's courage held out. She refused to obey.

The missionaries endeavored to arrange for a meeting with her father to talk the matter over. He refused to discuss the affair and again ordered his daughter to leave the school and return home.

The missionaries then offered the girl a home if she chose to stay at the mission. This meant that she must permanently sever all connections with her family. Her courage failed. She feared to resist any longer and went away weeping.

When she reached home she learned that she had been sold to the man by her father for nine dollars. No heed was paid to her tears and pleadings.

Scarcely three weeks after her marriage, her husband beat her cruelly with a hippo hide whip. Five months later he sent her home to signify that he had divorced her. And now her people have engaged her to another heathen.

Hughes Would Die, But

One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die."

I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good.

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.
